

No New State Taxes Promised By Democratic Platform

Registration
Will Swell
To New High

Harrisburg (AP) — Stephen A. Mitchell, new Democratic national chairman, predicted that 1952 registration figures will swell to an all-time high, with the edge going to Democrats.

"If we get them registered, we'll get more than half of them in the urban areas," he told a $25-a-plate dinner of the Democratic State committee here Saturday night.

Mitchell, who flew in from Denver for the Pennsylvania campaign opener lamented decline in Democratic voting in Pennsylvania between 1936 and 1948. In 1936 he said 58 out of each 100 voters went Democratic; in 1948, that figure was whittled down to 47 out of 100, he said.

Mitchell said Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee believes that Pennsylvania is the "Keystone" in the Nov. 4 general election.

In another speech, former Judge Guy K. Bard lashed out at Sen. Edward Martin R-Pa. for voting to give tideland oil rights to the states.

By doing so, said Bard, Martin passed up "an opportunity to help Pennsylvania schools."

Bard, Democratic nominee opposing Martin's bid for re-election, asked if Martin "truly represented" Pennsylvania in voting to give all the revenue from tidelands oil to three states instead of to all 48 states. Proposals have been made to earmark the oil money for federal aid to schools, Bard added.

The 113-member Democratic State Committee, in an afternoon session, unanimously adopted a 4,000-word platform which promises no new state taxes if a Democratic legislature is elected in November. The platform also criticized the Republican Administration of John S. Fine and U. S. Senators Martin and James H. Duff.

The executive committee also filled seven vacancies on the legislative ballot created by withdrawals or failure of write-in candidates to pay a filing fee.

For General Assembly replacements included Lee Yost, Union County; Dale Fleming, Erie's fourth district; Bryan Lee, Wyoming County, and Paul Margraff, Tioga County.

The four statewide candidates the road tomorrow for a series of campaign speeches.

The week's itinerary includes Sullivan and Bradford Counties tomorrow, Tioga and Potter Counties on Tuesday, Clinton and Cameron Counties on Wednesday, York on Thursday, Reading on Friday and Carbon and Monroe Counties on Saturday.

The entourage includes, besides Bard, Miss Genevieve Blatt, for auditor general; State Sen. George M. Leader, for state treasurer, and Judge Harry M. Montgomery for State Supreme Court.

Cook Rescued From Wreckage

Charleston, S.C. (AP) — The destroyer-minelayer Fraser made port here tonight with the body of a dead cook from the shipwrecked Honduran tanker Foundation Star.

Comdr. A. M. Savage told a dramatic story of efforts to persuade the cook to leave his hazardous perch on the floating wreckage and transfer to one of the rescue vessels.

The cook, Manuel Amaldonado, about 40, a Peruvian, stayed with the wreck all day yesterday. Toward the end of his vigil on the water-logged hulk of the 3,500 ton tanker he apparently lost his reason after a bout with a large shark.

Comdr. Savage told this story: The Fraser and three other Charleston-based vessels arrived at the scene of the wreck at 6 p.m. Saturday. The hulk was being buffeted by 20 to 30 foot waves and winds estimated at 30 to 35 knots.

Savage said the cook was sighted on the after section of the vessel and it appeared to him that the cook "was perfectly sane and in no immediate danger."

Prior to the Fraser's arrival on the scene, the Norwegian freighter Emu had made at least three unsuccessful efforts to entice the cook to safety. After the Fraser arrived, Savage said, a life line with a life ring at its end was "flossed within two feet of the cook's grasp and he paid no attention to it."

A ballot in the box is worth 50 street corner arguments. Are you registered?

Withholds Word On His Role

By The Associated Press

Sen. Robert A. Taft returned yesterday from a prolonged Canadian vacation, reiterated his support for the man who beat him for the Republican presidential nomination, but withheld word as to his campaign role.

Arriving in Washington, the Ohio senator told reporters he wasn't going to comment on what part, if any, he would take in the campaign for GOP nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower.

First, he said, he wants to talk with GOP Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield and with Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas, a top Eisenhower adviser. Taft said he had accepted at least three speaking dates in Ohio and had received a dozen or more invitations to speak in Indiana and Illinois, as well as his home state.

Summerfield said in a statement that he was confident the Ohioan would play a major role in the campaign.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, breakfasted yesterday with Montana party leaders at Billings, where he stopped en route to Portland, Ore., for the start of an intensive week of campaigning on the west coast. He has two speeches scheduled there during the day, another at Seattle tonight.

Stevenson appeared likely to keep hitting at the same theme he employed frequently last week—that the GOP opposition is at least two parties, hopelessly divided on the major campaign issues.

Eisenhower spent yesterday in Minneapolis, following his farm policy speech at Kasson, Minn., on Saturday. Both he and Stevenson addressed the same crowd at the national plowing contest. Yesterday both he and Stevenson attended church services.

Today the GOP standard bearer goes to Cleveland for conferences with supporters from Ohio, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Both candidates came under fire in statements issued in Washington through the two national committees.

The GOP committee made public a letter written to Stevenson by Harold O. Gwllim of Alton, Ill., Republican candidate for states attorney in Madison County, across the state border from St. Louis, Mo.

Gwllim accused Stevenson of lacking "either the will or the courage" to halt big scale gambling in Illinois and he wrote: "You no doubt would be embarrassed in taking effective action in Madison County due to certain Democratic law enforcement officials who have and are now tolerating large scale commercial gambling."

The Democratic committee issued a statement by George W. Ball of Chicago, executive director of Volunteers for Stevenson, challenging Eisenhower to repudiate campaign support from Gov. Frederick G. Payne of Maine.

Ball quoted Eisenhower as saying that no one could restore honesty in government if he owed his election in any part to those who have condoned corruption, and he linked that to a liquor scandal in Maine which had led to the indictment of one of Payne's friends and appointees.

"Silence by the General," Ball said, will mean that he condones "the mess in Maine."

Payne is up for election to the U. S. Senate in Maine's election today. His opponent, in a state where Democrats have not won a major office since 1934, is Roger P. Dube. In the GOP primary, Payne defeated Sen. Owen Brewster.

Also to be filled by the Maine voters are the Governor's chair and three seats in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Young Camper Dies Enroute To Hospital After Being Struck By Truck On Highway

Dingmans Ferry—A young Philadelphia boy up for a weekend of camping was struck and fatally injured by a truck on Route 209 near here at 7:45 a.m. yesterday.

He was Martin Adelson, 17, of 5046 N. Seventh St., Philadelphia, who died en route to St. Francis hospital, Port Jervis, shortly after the accident.

Milford State police said the driver was George VanGorder, 26, Stroudsburg RD1, operating a Tri-State News Dealers Co. truck south on the highway.

Police said no action had been taken last night against VanGorder but investigation of the accident is continuing.

Troopers at Milford said Adelson had come up from Philadelphia either Saturday or yesterday with two or three young friends, intending to camp out.

The group had obtained permission from Buddy Brumbaugh, Dingmans Ferry, to camp on his property. Yesterday morning the boys started across the highway three miles south of this village, intending to go down the creek which flows by the Brumbaugh property.

Adelson was romping with a local dog, troopers said, and chased the animal out onto the highway.

VanGorder told police he tried to avoid hitting the youth but that Adelson turned and ran back into the path of the truck.

The group ran for help to the Brumbaugh residence. Police and a Stroyan and Crellin ambulance from Milford were called. At the scene Dr. Henry Benzenberg, Milford, gave first aid and the boy was placed in the ambulance. He died before reaching the hospital.

Pfc. John McCarthy of the Milford station investigated. He said Pike County Coroner Walter Deegan was called, but the official verdict was held up pending further investigation.

The dead boy was about to begin his senior year at Olney High school in Philadelphia.

Paces Claims 7th Army Can Stem Attacks

Washington (AP) — Army Secretary Frank Pace said last night the Seventh Army in Europe can stem a possible Russian attack long enough for the nation to prepare a knockout blow.

He praised the overseas unit as the greatest peacetime force of its kind the United States ever assembled.

Its training and morale is such that it is prepared to stand and hold its ground if attacked, he said. Beyond that, Pace told a panel of interviewers on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press," America's striking force on land, sea and in the air has kept the Russians from moving against us.

He said he had no doubt that America's industrial power and manpower would defeat Russia in any war.

Pace said the Army is "very atomic minded" and intends to use the atom bomb "if it becomes necessary and if we have permission to do it."

"The permission, he explained, must come from the President. Questioned about Korea, Pace said both Communist and United Nations positions are so strong that neither side seems to have the "capacity for an offensive victory."

Reds Lash Out With Assaults

Seoul, Monday (AP)—Communist troops lashed out with seven separate attacks on Allied positions across Korea Sunday. They won key ground at three points but savage counterattacks by U. N. troops regained some of the objectives.

In addition to their attacks, the Reds maintained pressure all along the battleground with seven successful probing jobs.

Headquarters of the United Nations Command said bitter fighting continued during the night. Action slackened off, however, in the Bunker Hill and Heartbreak Ridge sectors. Only 100 rounds of artillery fire fell on Bunker Hill, in Monday's pre-dawn darkness.

Saturday night and Sunday the Reds fired their heaviest big gun barrage of the war.

Allied war planes pounded Red targets in North Korea by day and night. United Nations ships and carrier-based planes pounded Red installations on both coasts. Swift Allied jets roared deep into North Korea and struck down at least two Russian-built MIG-15s.

The Red ground attacks were well-coordinated. They hit hardest at Bunker Hill in the West, Capitol Hill in the center and Heartbreak Ridge in the East.

Green-Eyed Georgia Girl Is Named Miss America In Atlantic City Pageant

Atlantic City, N. J. (AP)—A trim, green-eyed girl from Georgia yesterday was hustled through her first chores as Miss America of 1953. Her tight schedule included a short news conference where she managed to give out the information that she can bake a pretty good berry pie and some day wants to be a music teacher.

Neve Jane Langley, picked last night to wear the Miss America crown for the next year, said the prospect of the job was a little frightening.

But the 19-year-old former Miss Georgia didn't look or act the least bit frightened. She answered reporter's questions with a calm low voice that contained only a mild trace of the South.

Neve, who is 5 feet 6 1/4 inches tall, is of medium height as Miss America goes. Her 25 predecessors averaged 5 feet 6 inches. A brunette like most past Miss Americas, she wears her dark brown hair just short of shoulder length.

Her hips-waist-bust measurements are 35, 23, 35 inches.

Neve's runner-up in the five-day pageant that included talent and beauty contests was Miss Indiana, 20-year-old Ann Marie Garner of Indianapolis. As next best, she got a $3,000 scholarship.

The choice of Miss Georgia hardly surprised some 15,000 pageant fans who watched the finalists.

The judges had shown they liked the beautiful pianist's talent and her figure by awarding her preliminary prizes in both talent and bathing suit competition.

In the Saturday night finals, the last five girls were required to answer three unrehearsed questions. One asked them to name the most outstanding American today.

After a night to think it over, she still stuck by her answer that President Truman filled the bill. She shied from any other politically-tinged questions.

Neve said she was neither engaged nor did she have any plans to become engaged. If she did, she would have to put off marriage for a year if she is to live up to her contract with the Miss America pageant.

She planned to start off immediately making personal appearances that could net her thousands of dollars by the end of the year. Her immediate predecessor, tall Colleen Hutchins of Utah, is reported to have amassed $40,000 in personal appearance fees.

Her first official appearance as Miss America after leaving Atlantic City today will be at the Reading, Pa., State fair tomorrow.

Heavy Vote In Wisconsin Sure

Milwaukee (AP)—Republican Sen. Joseph McCarthy's campaign for re-election is expected to attract an unusually large number of voters in Tuesday's Wisconsin primary election.

Other states and federal offices are up for the voters decision Tuesday as well, but most interest is centered on the fight between McCarthy and Leonard Schmitt, an attorney of Merrill, Wis., for the GOP nomination.

Share-Work Plan Of Lewis Is Revealed

Bluefield, W. Va. (AP) — The Bluefield Daily Telegraph said yesterday it had learned the details of John L. Lewis' share-the-work plan which he is said to be discussing with the nation's coal mine owners.

Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers Union, has been meeting with negotiators of the three main coal producing groups in an effort to work out new contracts to replace those terminating this month.

The morning newspaper said Lewis' share-the-work plan called for the miners to receive straight time pay for the first three days of work each week, time and a half for the fourth day and double time for the fifth.

The Telegraph described the plan as "merely in the talking stage." Such a plan, if adopted, would limit most mines to three or four days of work a week and would be aimed at assuring each miner of his share of the work to be done.

Statistics show, the paper said, no coal company could afford to pay its miners double time and therefore would have to close on the fifth day of each week, if not before.

Because the coal market has suffered reduced sales, many mines now are operating only three days a week or less. Others owned by the coal user or with aggressive sales forces, have been producing four and five days a week.

U. S. Military On Formosa Urge Use Of Chinese Troops

Taipei, Formosa (AP) — Top-most official sources yesterday disclosed that U. S. military authorities on Formosa have urged Washington to free two Chinese Nationalist divisions for action in Korea.

Moreover, these sources expressed the opinion that the request will be approved after the November U. S. presidential election, regardless of which party wins.

The authorities, who cannot be named, argue that the use of Chinese Nationalist troops in Korea would serve these important purposes:

1. It would give the Nationalists combat experience necessary if they are to sustain any hope of regaining mainland China from the Reds.

2. It would provide a "shot-in-the-arm" to other Nationalist troops cramped on Formosa for the past three years, to Chinese civilians here and to fence-straddling Chinese elsewhere in the world outside of mainland China.

The sources said that U. S. military authorities here have told Washington they disagree. They reportedly gave these reasons:

1. When Chiang made his 1950 offer, Communist China had not entered the Korean War and Allied Powers did not want to run the risk of drawing her in by using Nationalist troops. With Red China now in the war, that factor no longer exists.

2. It is the U. S. Seventh Fleet and the proximity of the U. S. 13th Air Force on Okinawa and the Philippines that has forestalled a Communist invasion of Formosa.

These forces and not Nationalist troops would be the main defenders if the Reds tried to invade.

Rev. Hubert D. Newton Resigns At Del. Water Gap Church

Will Leave Oct. 1 For Washington

Delaware Water Gap. Rev. Hubert D. Newton, pastor of Church of the Mountain here since 1949, has handed in his resignation.

The move was made by Mr. Newton at a meeting Friday of church trustees and elders. The pastor asked to be released by Oct. 1 in order to spend all his time at evangelistic work.

He said he will take the post of "minister of new life" in the University Presbyterian church of Seattle, Washington, the pastor's native state.

Pastor of the Seattle church is Dr. David Cowie. The congregation numbers 2,700. Mr. Newton's job will entail training "visitors" to call on individuals at their homes for evangelistic purposes, training new church members and training sponsors to look after new members.

Rev. Newton was ordained at Church of the Mountain here in 1950. He is a graduate of the Bible School of New York City and took post-graduate work at Princeton Theological Seminary.

While at the church here, Mr. Newton was assisted by his wife, Marie Books Newton, who served as organist, taught Sunday school, helped with the Daily Vacation Bible school, and mimeographed the church bulletins and periodicals. The couple has one son, Jonathan.

Church officials are planning to keep intact the two choirs, two Youth Fellowships, Junior Ushers association and Men's association organized by Mr. Newton. The pastor is also an officer in the Lehigh Presbytery.

Official action on the resignation will be taken at a meeting of the congregation at the church Sept. 26.

Pope Holds Man Will Not Solve Mystery

Castel Gandolfo, Italy, (AP) — Pope Pius told the world's leading astronomers yesterday it is "completely improbable" that man will ever solve the great mysteries of the universe.

The papal audience was boycotted by Soviet Russia's astronomers and the satellite scientists of Romania and Czechoslovakia, but they visited the Vatican observatories afterward.

Four hundred star scientists from 32 other countries, including Communist Yugoslavia and Poland, heard the Pope praise their "conquest of cosmic space" and predict immeasurable further progress.

He told the scientists, here for the Eighth World Astronomical Congress, that they have been able to "thrust aside the barriers of distance" and carry man's knowledge a thousand million light years "out into the immensity of intergalactic space."

"We are at the very beginning; there is a long way still to go and the path will be firelessly followed. However, it is completely improbable that even the most gifted investigators will ever succeed in recognizing and much less in solving the mysteries locked up in the physical universe."

"Such mysteries," the Pope said, "therefore postulate and point to the existence of one spirit who is infinitely superior, the divine creative spirit who creates everything that exists, conserves it in being and governs it, and meanwhile with supreme insight knows and scrutinizes his handiwork now just as he did at the dawn of the first day of creation."

FOR THE FIRST TIME in United States Navy history, two 27,000-ton carriers — the sister ships Antietam and Shangri-La—exchanged crews (1,500 men on each flattop) in a double ceremony aboard the two ships at New York Naval Shipyard Annex at Bayonne, N. J. The reason for the exchange: The Shangri-La is being sent from Atlantic duty to the Pacific, the Antietam is being transferred from the Pacific to the Atlantic. The U. S. Government saves the cost of sending sailor's dependents and household effects across the continent. Above, members of the Antietam are assembled aboard the Shangri-La.

Home Rule Group Will Legislate

Altoona, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania Home Rule Association will hold its annual state meeting here Sept. 16-18 "to consider a legislative program that will provide better roads for every community in the state."

Thomas S. Stephenson of Altoona, president of the association, said the group's program falls into three divisions:

Enact a home rule road bill to provide permanent allocation of at least 25 per cent of the state motor funds to cities, boroughs and townships. This would give them $350 per mile of road plus $2 per capita.

Repeal Act 145, which allocates a smaller sum and provides it must be matched with local taxes.

This act, Stephenson declared, appropriates only 15 million dollars a year for use on roads and streets which earn 60 millions annually.

Oppose any legislation that would repeal the act appropriating one-half cent of the tax on each gallon of gasoline for county road purposes.

Attorney Is Out Of Case

Williamsport, Pa. (AP) — The defense attorney for Irwin P. Goff, 32, of Cuyahoga, O., charged with the slaying of a teenage baseball fan, quit over the weekend.

Lycoming County District Attorney Markin R. Knight said that the case will be presented to the grand jury tomorrow afternoon even though Attorney George M. Hess Jr., has withdrawn.

Goff is charged with armed robbery and the fatal shooting Aug. 17, of Raymond Smith, 19, Monongahela, Pa. Smith was in Williamsport to attend the Little League baseball state playoffs.

Knight said Hess told him he withdrew upon learning Goff would be unable to pay an attorney's fee.

Two companions of Smith, Herbert Hixenbaugh, 17, and Franklin Simmen, 19, of Monongahela, told authorities Goff held a gun on them and forced them to drive him around. Then, they said, Goff shot Smith.

Fine Moves To Oust Sen. John M. Walker

Philadelphia (AP) — Some members of Gov. John S. Fine's administration have started a drive to make Sen. Fred P. Hare Jr. (R-Somerset) the Republican floor leader in that chamber during the next session of the legislature.

The drive was disclosed by sources close to Fine during the recent meeting of the party's state committee here. State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, President Pro Tempore of the Senate and party state chairman, declined comment on the situation.

If successful the drive would oust the party's present floor leader in the Senate, Sen. John M. Walker of Allegheny County, who is also minority county commissioner in that county.

The administration is said to be still looking back to the last session of the legislature when Walker led a group of 19 "rebel" Republicans in blocking passage of Fine's proposed one-half of one per cent income tax.

However, some opposition to Hare was reported within the administration ranks. One Fine lieutenant, who declined quotation by name, said the opposition was based on the employment of Hare by the Pennsylvania State Education Association, which claims a membership of 60,000 of the state's teachers. Hare receives $7,500 a year as public relations counsel for the PSEA.

Another possibility for the post, Sen. James E. Berger, (R-Pott.) Senate caucus chairman reportedly turned down the post when he was approached on the subject by an administration spokesman.

Walker said in Pittsburgh recently that he would be a candidate for re-election when the senate reconvenes next January. Both he and Hare have two years of their four-year terms remaining.

Hare has served as party whip during the last two sessions of the legislature and has gone down the line for administration measures. He is elected to the State House of Representatives in 1940 and served there until he was sent to the Senate in 1946.

Mrs. John Stanford, Rotary Club Win Benj. Rush Awards

Service Here Is Rewarded By Society

A Philadelphia newspaper columnist and a Delaware county civic group have been named winners of this year's "Benjamin Rush Awards" by the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania.

—Slated to receive the award are Leigh Mitchell Hodges, Doylestown and the "Polio Parents Club of Delaware County".

The winners were selected from a group of individual entries submitted by county chapters of the Society.

Monroe county winners for "greatest contribution to health" in the individual category was Mrs. John E. Stanford of 618 King St.

Mrs. Stanford has been extremely active in civic groups during the past ten years, having served with Red Cross GI service work in this area from the outset of World War Two and in numerous capacities with other service organizations.

She has been instrumental in Red Cross and General Hospital work and campaigns to secure money for charitable organizations and has devoted much of her time to the Nurses Aid society and other medical assistance groups.

Mrs. Stanford is currently serving as chairman of a work program associated with the Cancer Crusade in Monroe county.

Winner of the county Benjamin Rush award for outstanding service by a lay organization was the Rotary Club of the Stroudsburgs whose members participated in and initiated a consistent program of activity in drives for medical aid and health education, especially in Crippled Children and March of Dime campaign work.

The first Benjamin Rush State award to an individual was won in 1950 by LeRoy Mikels, Stroudsburg resident, who was active in Red Cross work during that year.

Mikels received the award on a network broadcast in which the Society lauded his contribution to the success of blood bank drives throughout this area.

The Lions Club won the local award for a lay organization that year. Last year the Monroe County Federation of Social and Fraternal Organizations won the group award given by the county branch.

The winner of the individual award on the State level, Hodges, is a columnist for the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin where his column "The Optimist" has pioneered in health education for Pennsylvanians and, through publication of books, the nation.

Hodges has centered his publicity work primarily on tuberculosis and victims of that disease and was one of the prime movers in making the annual Christmas seal sale a success.

The "Polio Parents Club of Delaware County" has as its aim the improvement of morale of victims and families who have been afflicted by polio. Members of the group are confined to those who have had the disease themselves or whose children have had it.

The club aids in helping polio victims by helping them to lead useful lives and earn money, creating a feeling of independence in the convalescent patient.

Hodges and the Polio Club will receive their awards, bronze medallions including a bas-relief of Dr. Benjamin Rush, at the State dinner of the Medical Society at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel in Philadelphia, Sept. 29.

Dr. Louis W. Jones, Wilkes-Barre, president of the Medical Society, will make the presentations.

More than 3,500 doctors from all sections of the State will attend the four-day conference in Philadelphia.

Dr. Harold S. Pond will be out of town from Sept. 3 to Sept. 22.—Adv.

Hit-Run Charge Is Lodged After Four Girls Are Hurt; Local Man Held For Hearing

An accident in which the car of four vacationing girls was forced to crash off Route 209 resulted yesterday in a charge of hit-and-run against an East Stroudsburg RDI sailor.

He was Charles M. Hines, 23, on pass from the destroyer S.S. Kenneth D. Bailey docked at Newport, R. I. Hines lives near Vacation Valley.

Hines was arrested by Pfc. Don Henzey and Pfc. Joe Murphy of the Stroudsburg station who were checking descriptions of car and driver given by the four injured girls earlier.

Hines is at the county jail pending a hearing today before Justice of the Peace William N. Walton, Stroudsburg.

The girls were Helen E. Hoda, 27, Syosset, L. I.; her sister Olga, 32, who lives at the same address; Virginia Plotzer, 26, Jersey City, N. J., and Carol Knippler, 22, Brooklyn, N. Y.

They told police they were all on vacation from their jobs with a drug company branch office in Jersey City and were staying at Vacation Valley. About 1 a.m. yesterday they were eating in a diner off Route 209 and a sailor "tried to strike up an acquaintance," they told police.

The girls finished eating and left the diner with the sailor and a companion following, police learned. The girls got in their car and started the drive back to Vacation Valley with Miss Hoda at the wheel.

Soon their car was struck lightly from behind, police said. In the next two or three miles the driver of the car behind kept speeding up just enough to strike the rear bumper of the girls' car with his own front bumper, police were told.

However, as the girls reached a point opposite the residence of Al Rosenberg, proprietor of Echo Lake Farms, the car in the rear "made a continuous contact" with the girls' car, in effect shoving it down the highway, police said.

The girls' car went out of control, left the highway, crashed through a log fence on Rosenberg's property, knocking down five fences poles. Then the car rolled over, coming to rest on its top.

The girls climbed from the car unaided. Two had suffered black eyes and all were seriously bruised and in a condition of shock, police said.

The other car continued without stopping, police said. Three young men from Sunnybrook Farms passed the scene and stopped to give assistance. They drove the girls back to Vacation Valley. The girls refused medical aid, police said. Damages to their car were estimated at $700.

The girls cut their vacation short last night to return to their homes for treatment, police said.

After Hines' arrest yesterday afternoon he was identified by the girls, police said. Pfc. Henzey said Hines admitted hitting the car from the rear but said he didn't know the car had crashed off the highway. Police said Hines' brother, Frank, 30, East Stroudsburg RD1, who was in the car at the time, was not involved in the prosecution by police.

Polio Stops Lock Haven Activities

Lock Haven, Pa. (AP)—All public gathering places in Lock Haven were closed yesterday as the city board of health moved to combat the mounting number of polio cases which has reached epidemic proportions in Clinton and Centre counties.

The board yesterday ordered churches, Sunday schools, movies, Y's, teenage centers and similar places to close their doors at noon and remain shut "until further action of the board."

A record total of 64 confirmed cases of infantile paralysis have been uncovered by health authorities in the two central Pennsylvania counties.

The two-county area has a population of about 45,000. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis considers more than two cases of polio per 100,000 population an epidemic.

Many Clinton county school districts have delayed opening of the fall term. Yesterday the Lock Haven school board ordered all public schools in the city to stay closed indefinitely. The city board of education will meet Tuesday to consider keeping the schools closed all month.

There have been two fatal cases of polio in Clinton county since the beginning of August.

To date county authorities have recorded 29 confirmed cases in Clinton and 35 in Centre.

The City Health Board order closing meeting places also halted football practices of Lock Haven High School. The school is scheduled to open the season against Dunmore Friday but school authorities were uncertain the game would be played.

The order also forced cancellation of a motor boat racing program scheduled for today.

Police Probe Bank Robbery

Wilmington, Del. (AP)—Police probed among empty money bags and chipped concrete for clues yesterday at the Colonial Trust Co. bank where burglars stole an estimated $75,000 in a weekend break-in.

Authorities said the thieves smashed a steel and concrete vault yesterday and hauled the money away in two wastebaskets. The small neighborhood bank in the western part of this city was strewn with empty money bags and chipped concrete.

Detective Inspector Edwin Rich said the estimate of the money missing was arrived at after a check of the bank's records by his men.

Assistance Is On Decline

During the last half of August the State public assistance rolls declined by 16,474 persons to bring the total drop for the month to 26,306.

This was more than enough, assistance officials said, to offset the increase during July caused by the major steel strike.

As a result of this new decrease only 236,351 persons were receiving assistance at the end of August as compared with 239,034 at the end of June, just before the strike forced the rolls upward.

UE Proves Itself Again

The contempt in which certain Red-dominated unions hold the United States Government was too well demonstrated last week in Chicago.

The occasion was a hearing by the House Un-American Activities Committee into charges that Communists are throwing their weight around in certain defense plants in the Chicago area.

Rep. Francis E. Walter, Easton, is a member of this committee and working in Chicago.

But the inquiry, by a duly constituted branch of the federal government, was all but stopped by the mob activities of a gang identified as members of the United Electrical Workers—Farm Equipment Workers Union.

These two unions were booted from the CIO because their leaders slavishly followed the Moscow line. Nothing about America was any good. Everything about Russian Communism was just dandy. Such were the bleatings of these two unions' leaders.

Their members marched into the Federal Building in Chicago where the Un-American Activities Committee was meeting.

The mob sang "Solidarity Forever," a favorite left-wing hymn, shouted, beat on the hearing room door and generally behaved like hoodlums. Such outbursts are right out of the Communist handbook as written by Lenin and Stalin.

Chicago police said they would gladly restore order, but since the outburst took place on federal property couldn't move unless asked to. U. S. marshals made no effort to control the gang or to ask for police aid.

The whole performance was a nasty display of our native Communist tactics after they have taken over a labor union.

What Is Responsibility?

If every citizen of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania could understand and quote all the laws on the statutes books, he would be a remarkable person indeed, but there is one law that should be familiar to every Pennsylvanian in this mechanized age and that is the Safety Responsibility Law which has been in effect for more than two years.

Apparently the law is misunderstood by many. Most common misunderstanding is the belief of most drivers that the law requires compulsory insurance. Not so, a reading of the act demonstrates, but only if the motorist involved in an accident cannot put up the bond required by law and meet the other requirements within a 60-day period. Failing to meet them, he stands to lose his driver and owner licenses.

But now we come to the crux of the matter, the misunderstanding shared by most of us. Recalling that compulsory insurance is not required as long as the individual doesn't get into an accident, the fact remains that AFTER an accident no one may drive a car without having taken out liability insurance to cover claims in future accidents.

In other words, the state considers the man or woman who has had an accident to be not as good a risk as before it happened, and intends to protect him against himself and to protect others who share the highway with him.

Professional Shortages

There are too few engineers. Appeals are being made to young people to study various forms of engineering at college. Our country cannot get along without civil, mechanical, electrical, electronic, etc., etc., engineers.

Why were we never short of engineers before? Obviously, because we were not involved in global wars before. We were not making the world safe for democracy and such. The education of our sons was not interrupted by mobilization, conscription, the casualties and deaths from wars.

Besides, before we went into democracy with all our recent fervor, it was generally recognized that a smart, hard-working boy was graced by the Almighty and that there can be no equality of intellect between them. Possibly because there are more stupid than smart boys—and therefore more votes among them—our colleges, assisted by the G. I. Bill of Rights, filled themselves to the rafters with many who disliked to study but liked the leisure. Result: overcrowding, lowered standards, fewer engineers!

We are short of nurses. Go to any hospital and its management weeps for nurses. Of course, the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Veterans Administration take their first pick. Even so, if the hospitals could afford to pay their nurses as well as stenographers are paid for lighter work, that service might become more attractive. As it is, the hospitals have raised their standards, requiring increased training, but not the pay sufficiently.

On the other hand, most of our best hospital exist by voluntary contributions. As taxes and the cost of living go up, the amount that individuals donate to charity becomes an increasing burden upon the families of those who are accustomed to give. High taxes hurt free charity and income allowances are made for church tax deductions, the high cost of living leaves little over in one's pocket for good causes.

Hospitals have been aided by the various Blue Cross plans in the sense that more people pay their way and fewer go to free clinics. That, however, raises another problem which cannot be discussed here adequately, namely, that internists and young doctors have decreasing opportunities to practice in clinics and to learn while a senior doctor shows them what to do. This problem is now facing all the teaching hospitals of our country.

We have a shortage of teachers. This is, in part, due to the increase in population. During the next six years, the elementary school population will increase by about 1,200,000 pupils each year. There is a need for 160,000 qualified elementary school teachers and 48,000 high school teachers. As a matter of fact, the teacher shortage is so severe that about 200,000 are now in service who have not yet completed their requirements for a bachelor's degree at college.

Again the armed forces compete with a profession. Many who train to be teachers, on graduation, go into the armed services and therefore are not available for our children. According to the "NEA Journal," 62,692 potential high school teachers should now be available to fill 48,000 high school positions. Actually there will not be that number because of other attractions.

Another problem that arises in the teaching profession is specialization. It used to be that an educated man could teach high school boys and girls the subjects they required to prepare for college. Today, the high schools are not limited to preparatory courses; they also give large numbers of functional courses which call for specialists.

Also, the system of specialization forces a teacher to put himself into a category. He is not a broadly educated man, but a social scientist or a specialist in home economics and such intellectual tripe. If the school system recognized that a person fitted to teach in a high school ought to be able to undertake three or four subjects, many of the difficulties which schools encounter would be solved, and fewer teachers would be out of work.

The fact is that because of specialization, although there is an overall shortage, many specialists cannot find jobs. How much of a specialist does a high school teacher need to be? Or must it be the rule that a teacher of home economics knows nothing else?

The price we pay for war is not only in money costs or the lives of those maimed and killed. The price is also in a deterioration in the quality of the society affected by war.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerl

Nowadays, sex hygiene is taught in elementary schools all over the country. When Sam Levenson was a kid, however, he believed his mother's story that babies were brought by the stork until he was 12. Then, he says, came the day of enlightenment. His pal Benny's mother was about to produce a new heir, and Benny told the startled Sam the real facts of life. Sam ran home and repeated the story to his mother for ratification. Her reaction was prompt and characteristic. She whacked him sharply and commanded, "Don't you play with Benny no more!"

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington—

Eisenhower—Republicans, in pressing Robert A. Taft for his support, are placing the Ohio senator in an almost impossible political position. This will be doubly true if Gen. Eisenhower is elected President of the United States.

Taft is undisputed GOP leader in the U. S. Senate. Should Eisenhower win, he will be obligated to pay off politically such Republicans as Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York; Paul Hoffman, the panting fair dealer whose visions of global spending schemes are unlimited; and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., whose own race for re-election in Massachusetts is in doubt.

The Senate may be called upon to approve the appointment of men such as the three named, who did so much to knock Taft out of the GOP presidential nominating race.

Taft can hardly accept the Eisenhower entreaties for support without knowing that his position in the Senate will lead him into the untenable position of advocating the nominations of men in the party whose views he distrusts. Dewey, Lodge and Hoffman have prior claims to the political rewards that will be at the General's disposal.

Taft, in effect, will have none unless he extracts a binding commitment from Eisenhower for a strong hand in such appointments, in return for his active campaign support. It is unlikely that the trio of Eisenhower backers will urge the general to offer Taft any such promise. And it is unlikely that Taft will ask for it.

Unless he gets it, however, his usefulness in the party in the Senate will diminish in proportion to the nominations he is called upon to approve which reflect a political philosophy alien to his own.

Taft's concepts of what Washington needs to clean up the international spending mess could hardly include the approval of, for instance, Paul Hoffman as secretary of state or administrator of our overseas give-away projects. Taft would be unable to retain his position of prestige in the Senate if he did so. He has, on many occasions, decried the views expressed by dozens who will be in line for rewards if the general is elected. He is a politician, but not the kind who would sacrifice principles for political booty. His campaign for the GOP nomination revealed this in all its clarity.

Aware of his position in the Senate, there can be no certainty in Taft's mind at the present moment that he will do what Eisenhower and his campaign managers want him to do. He has yet to discuss the subject with Eisenhower. He is expected to do so soon, but indications from his vacation retreat are that he will appear at the conference in the role of a good listener.

Taft is tagged with the leadership of conservative Republicans. His followers were attracted to him because his ideas and principles are clear and precise. Today this is a distinct political advantage, as the current candidates are learning to their distress.

Eisenhower's managers are fretting over the disinterest among Taft's wing of the GOP in the General's campaign. They cannot dismiss the so-called conservatives by flippantly suggesting that, like the Southern Democrats, they have no where else to go but with the General and his running mate, Senator Richard Nixon. The conservative can stay home, as so many of them did when Gov. Dewey made his second bid for the presidency. Conservative Republicans, on the other hand, have more pity than scorn for the plight of Eisenhower's supporters. Most of them are good enough Republicans to pledge their support to the general. The general and his backers are smart enough to know that a pledge is insufficient; oratory and money are needed in bulk size.

Most of the Republicans who were active in Taft's behalf have been neglected by the general's managers. A few bids for lip service to the campaign have been made. There is little evidence of any serious political deals being consummated however. The liberal wing of the GOP, up to a week or so ago, was worried about what the conservatives thought or were likely to do.

Things are different today, and it is hoped the Taft-Eisenhower conference will trigger a continuous series of parleys between the two factions, assuming that what Eisenhower has to offer meets with Taft's approval.

It had better be good, I doubt if Taft will abandon his political principles in exchange for a brief exposure to the Eisenhower personality. More than that is needed at this stage of the campaign.

On Broadway

The Broadway Lights

Stage Entrance: The sudden booking of "Seagulls Over Sorrento" (to launch the 1952-53 show-season) doubled the premiere for September. The Grand Total is now Two . . . "Mr. Pickwick," the other newcomer, comes to Broadway wearing medals from London critics . . . One London observer, incidentally, cables that the West End hit booked for New York will be bed disappointments here. "Too talky for American tastes, except, perhaps, two" . . . There was encouraging news for "The Virginian" from Abington, Virginia, sub. Variety's Dixiecrat reported it "has interesting possibilities for Broadway" . . . The big news in Broadway's ghetto was the steenth return engagement for Joe Everlovin' Lewis at the Copacabana and next Tuesday's debut of Portugal's top star, Amalia, at La Vie En Rose . . . "Oklahoma," the goldmine, is still the theater's champ. Currently prospering at New Haven, its 5th visit to that burg . . . The new season's Tiffany trimmings will be provided by several gilt-edged wordsmiths such as Tennessee Williams, Thornton Wilder, Moss Hart, John Van Druten and Robert E. Sherwood. The latter generously offers two dramas . . . Despite the groaning about lofty production costs and taxes, more shows are scheduled this season than last.

In the Wings: Jerry Brady, mgr. of the Tropical Park race-track, at Miami, Fla., counseled an actor he saw plunging at the $50 window . . . "Look son," said Brady, "for three years I was millionaire Alfred G. Vanderbilt's betting commissioner and we never made a quarter. When you go to a race-track just squander $2 and get yourself two bucks worth of great entertainment" . . . One Broadway hefty taxpayer said he liked both Ike and Adlai and he would vote against the party. "I want to see a change in thieves."

The Cinemas: Marilyn Monroe is showing her dimples in "Monkey Business," a zany zinger. Cary Grant comes through in Joe DiMaggio style . . . "Woman of the North Country" is a dreary outdoor fable. The plot requires fresh air . . . Gene Kelly dispenses with his bigtime fooling in "The Devil Makes Three" and sends zingers across your spine. The fast anti-Nazi theme is a reminder that all the Hitler aren't dead . . . "Dead Man's Trail" gives horses a nice workout. Giddyup . . . "Beauty and the Devil" has several skillful Gallic stars putting the wink in their twinking. It's a droll boos-and-birds-eye view of romance . . . Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

When you live in the country you can hear a lot of noises that city folks never hear.

For instance out in our field there are three black crows who have discovered a pear tree. I don't know why there are three. Perhaps it is a male crow with two wives. Perhaps one of them is the mother-in-law. I just don't know. But they certainly make an awful noise—caw, caw, caw at five in the morning.

I hope I'll get used to it, but I am not yet.

There are other noises, of course. There is the whistle of the morning train. There is the boy who is trying to imitate an atomic bomb when he throws the morning paper on the porch. There is a factory siren about five miles away.

But for some reason the most annoying noise is that of a rooster somewhere off in the distance and the answering clucks of his hens.

One morning I was up very early. My wife had told me how beautiful our sunrise are and I wanted to investigate.

(I had also eaten a Welsh rarebit just before going to bed and could not sleep.)

So I went out for a walk and pretty soon came upon the home of the rooster and his hens.

One of the hens attracted my particular attention.

She was about the most woe-begone thing you ever saw in your life.

There she was sitting sadly contemplating an egg she had just laid. She was talking softly to the little egg, in language that only hens and I can understand.

"Poor little egg," she was saying, "what a miserable life you have ahead of you!"

"Here you have hardly started your life and before you reach somebody's breakfast table, you are going to be taxed and taxed and taxed."

The hen wiped a few tears from her eyes and continued, "I see by the papers where there are 100 different tax bites on you before the consumer ever gets a bite out of you."

"I see, where the grocer pays 14 different taxes—federal, state and local, all of which have to be included in your price."

"The trucker who delivers the eggs to the grocer pays 20 more taxes. The egg wholesaler pays 17 taxes. The farmer who sells you pays 10. The chicken feed man pays another 14 taxes. The railroad company which transports the feed for me pays 11 taxes. The company that mills the feed pays 14 more."

"If you were not too young for mathematics, you'd know that that makes exactly 100 taxes."

But the little egg was not so dumb. You may never have heard an egg talk. This one not only talked but apparently also read the newspapers.

"What do you expect?" it said to its mother.

"Without those taxes, how could Margaret Truman have three body guards during her trip to Europe? Didn't you read how the Swedes kicked that everywhere she went she was accompanied by three armed gileons? And how do you think President Truman could have his yacht, his special plane, his private train, his tax free salary?"

I left. I did not want to have anything to do with subversive eggs.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood — At this season when most of us are taking vacations, George Burns and Gracie Allen are working as hard as anybody in Hollywood. They're completing their second year of live television and also doing one TV film a week against their fall switch to celluloid.

"It's gotta be done 'way ahead when it's on film," George explained the other day in their spacious, green-walled living room. "You've got to put in sound and music and commercials. And develop the film. But there's less pressure in film TV. You can re-shoot the bad fluffs. The little fluffs belong, and we leave 'em in. In life, everybody fluffs."

Burns predicted that the films would continue to look like live television because of the long scenes they have to shoot. Not from choice but because TV can't yet afford to chop up its shooting in one and two-minute bits the way theater movies do. And he thinks that's good.

"In (theater) pictures, you lose a certain flow, shooting it in little parts," George said. Gracie added, "We do a half hour without a break."

George said, "No other woman could do what Gracie does. She's a great actress, rather than a comedienne. She doesn't know the audience exists. Sometimes she'll say, 'Let's take that line out; it

The Once Over

The Campaign

There's a new development in the Presidential campaign . . . the hole in the sole of Adlai Stevenson's shoe. It is, in fact, the issue of the week. As a supporter of Ike Eisenhower, we suspect it may be a "plant" introduced into the Democratic candidate's campaign by his staff of advisers, perhaps to prove to the world that Adlai is not running in Harry Truman's shoes. Or possibly the device is employed to arouse sympathy. Whatever the explanation, it is up to Eisenhower to accept the challenge and be photographed with his toes out, a hole in the heel of his socks or a patch on the seat of his pants.

The worn-out shoe sole and the runner heel were once a common American sight, a mark of frugality and a proof of a lot of trudging over rough roads. They were symbols of democracy in a sterner day. The hole in the sole indicated intensive work ON FOOT, a contempt for photogenic considerations and a deliberative attitude toward an expenditure of a half-buck. It is years since the American people did any walking to speak of. A whole generation has come up with soles and heels intact. People have been throwing away a shoe if it began to show scratches. It is a long time since we saw a fellow who had a worn-out pair of shoes on and regarded it as routine. The Democrats are smart and in Adlai's battered footwear you may be seeing an all important switch in campaigning.

You didn't see Adlai exhibiting any holes in his soles on those video panels last summer, did you? You didn't notice him with got no laugh. Actually it got the biggest laugh in the show. "All her dialogue makes illogical logic. She goes to answer the door carrying an electric iron with a cord of 50 feet long. Her explanation is that the long cord keeps the iron from getting too hot." Conversely, a short cord, to her, saves electricity."

Burns said the character, his wife plays was not invented. I asked whether he meant she's illogically logical—naturally. "No," George said, "but I reversed our parts after the first time we worked together in vaudeville. She was getting the laughs asking the questions and I wasn't getting laughs giving the answers." (More about George and Gracie tomorrow.)

Gosh, Baker was a star away back when we were the boy editor of the Register back home and Peckinpugh played with the New Haven nine at Savin Rock . . . What amazed us was that both boys still have hair . . .

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Fischer

Fischer, Miller Nuptials Held At Mt. Pocono Church

The Mount Pocono Methodist Church was the scene of the early fall wedding of Miss June Lenora Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Miller, of Pocono Summit, and John E. Fischer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fischer Sr., of Pocono Lake, Saturday at 2 p.m. Rev. Edgar C. Hersh, pastor of the church, was the officiating clergyman.

The altar of the church was decorated with bouquets of gladioli. Miss Helen Williams, of Pocono Manor, was organist and furnished suitable wedding music. The vocalist, Mrs. William Fischer Jr., of Morrisville, N. J., was heard in the numbers, "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a white slipper satin gown with off the shoulder neckline with an insert of net and lace trimmed in sequines and beads with long sleeves ending in points at the wrist and full skirt ending in a train. She wore her sister's wedding veil which was fingertip length of val lace gathered to a crown of seeded pearls and rhinestones. She carried a white Bible (gift of the bridegroom's parents) with white roses and an orchid with streamers of white satin ribbon with baby pom poms.

The maid-of-honor was Miss Norma Miller, sister of the bride, of Pocono Summit, while the bridesmaids were Mrs. Virginia Smith, of Pocono Lake, the bride's sister; Miss Mary Guida, of Pocono Summit, and Miss Janet Fischer, of Pocono Lake, sister of the bridegroom.

The maid-of-honor wore a gold satin gown with overskirt of tulle and short fitted jacket of satin ending in points in front and back, crownless bonnet of lace with matching rosebuds. She carried colonial bouquet of yellow pom poms, roses and gladioli.

The gowns of the bridesmaids were cotton blue, same style as that of the maid-of-honor with crownless bonnets of blue lace and matching rosebuds. They carried colonial bouquets of pink gladioli and roses with white baby pom poms, baby breath and blue delphiniums.

William Fischer Jr., of Morrisville, N. J., was his brother's best man. The ushers were Robert Miller, Pocono Summit, cousin of the bride; John Bush, Elakessler, and Donald Judge, Pocono Pines, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a gray dress with pink insert at the neckline, black accessories and corsage of pink roses. The mother of the bridegroom was attired in a black suit with blue accessories and corsage of blue delphiniums.

The reception attended by 125 guests was held in the social room of the Reformed church at Pocono Lake. The bride's table was decked out with bouquets of zinnias and a large basket of white gladioli and white candles. A three-tier wedding cake formed the centerpiece.

Mr. and Mrs. Fischer left later on a honeymoon tour to Florida. For traveling the bride wore a gray faille suit trimmed in black velvet and black accessories and a orchid corsage.

The newly weds are both graduates of the Tobyhanna Township High school class of 1949. The bride is employed at Pocono Manor laundry. Mr. Fischer was recently discharged from the U. S. Army. He spent 18 months in Korea with the graves registration unit and was stationed at Fort Devens, Mass., four months before his discharge.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

One of the most interesting news items of the weekend concerned Grandma Moses, who has just been incorporated at the age of 92. No one is surprised, for, my nite, though she is, Grandma has been a business for years. Her contribution to the American scene are many, for she has charmed the young, inspired the old, and captured for posterity all that was loveliest in the era in which she grew to womanhood.

Now that grandma is an industry, we will probably be seeing a great many items bearing her name. Her Christmas cards are back with us again, and Wyckoff customers are already well acquainted with her fabrics, plates, and framed reproductions.

Speaking of plates reminds me that Currier and Ives prints are now sold in that form in our gift department. At $2, these make charming gifts since they can be used both in serving and as wall decorations. My favorites are "Home to Thanksgiving" and "The Birthplace of Washington." See them today, if you like new things with an old flavor.

THIS AND THAT
I noticed that Juilliard, the famous wool welcomed in select circles everywhere, was mispelled in Saturday's column. Oh well, with so many eyes on it, why worry about the 's' in it? ... Incidentally, this fabulous fabric and the equally renowned Forstmann wool, are available by the yard in our domestic department. Wyckoff's is showing the latest fall colors and weaves in each, with values from $4.95 to $12.95 ticked in a price range from $3 to $5. No one's pulling the wool over anyone's eyes by calling THAT a bargain! ... The home dressmaker will also be interested. I'm sure, in our table of special novelty rayons, taffets and failles priced at $1 a yard. Materials this year are dramatic and interesting, with self-color patterns in unusual designs. Crisp and silken, they'll whisper as you walk and, even in repose, will speak of elegance... While visiting our second floor, be sure to see the newly arrived Catalina sweaters. One of gray, embellished in an all-over design of white, is particularly dressy. Snug fitting and trim, it closes with silver buttons. More casual but equally lovely is one of aqua with a band of flowers rambling across the shoulders and around the neckline. If these won't tempt you into the ranks of the Sweater Girl, just try to resist Jantzen's rose crepe knit creation in 100 per cent wool that's soft as silk! Looking well this fall? Could be you'd look better... in a sweater!

Patrols Get Set For New School Year

Sturdy young lads wearing white Sam Browne belts adorned with insignia of the School Safety Patrols will be confronted this fall with the heaviest burden ever placed on their shoulders.

An unprecedented number of their school mates will be returning to classes this year. The ranks will be swelled by more than 1,500,000 other children who will be going to school for the first time in their lives.

The tremendous increase in the number of motor vehicles on the streets and highways of the country, has multiplied many times over, the hazards of traffic from which the Safety Patrolmen seek to protect their school mates.

Restrain Youngsters

Safety Patrols are organized through cooperation of the schools and the American Automobile Association. Last spring in tribute to the work of the patrols, the Postal Department issued a special commemorative stamp featuring a member of the patrol on duty at a street corner.

The duties of School Safety Patrolmen are almost entirely confined to restraining eager youngsters on the way to and from school, from barging into traffic.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Robert K. Christenberry, commissioner of boxing in New York State, was one of the interested spectators at Saturday's final round of the Waite Memorial and Old Masters golf tournaments. The ring car was reportedly very pleased with the manner in which Gil Turner and Bobby Dykes conducted themselves in the Madison Square Garden on Friday. Christenberry was also apparently satisfied in the manner in which the very close decision was rendered. Both the ringside and television, not to mention those listening to radios, were thrilled with the slam-bang action that took place.

Stroudsburg Speedway had a capacity crowd on hand once again yesterday, as the new cars fought it out for 200 laps, before Eddie Riker pushed his 1946 Ford to victory, over a field that saw 15 of the starters forced to the pits, for one of several reasons. Stock cars are slated to return next Saturday to the track located near the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Airport. Big cars will run on the same oval on Sunday, September 28, according to an announcement made yesterday over the track's public address system.

Ken Hoffman, former tackle with the Chicago Bears, played in a foursome with Fred Waring at Shawnee on Saturday afternoon. At least four newspapers were represented at the final round of the Waite Memorial and Old Masters tournaments on Saturday. Eddie Javitt, well known in local athletic circles, caddied for Harold Storn, runnerup for the Glen Brook Club championship for the past two years, throughout the week-long tournament at Shawnee. Rushkill's win over Analomink yesterday insured the charges of Manager Danny Epley a second place in the final standings of the Pocono Mountains League.

Ray Steele gave another one of his brilliant pitching performances against Analomink yesterday, as the Bushkill hurler fanned 22 batters, walked six and gave up only three hits in as many different innings. It was Ray's 11th league victory of the present campaign to go with a pair of setbacks. The Analomink club held a picnic immediately after yesterday's encounter. The Eagles, who had their 31-game winning streak snapped by the General Electric team of Scranton yesterday, are hopeful of having Manager Gail Fegley back on his feet by Tuesday, when the Eagles and IAM clash for the Gold Medal Softball Tournament.

Fegley has been attacked by the virus bug that has been making the rounds of late. The Eagles evened the score at 6-6 at the end of six rounds yesterday, but the General Electric club, which is reportedly really strong, held a 3-1 advantage during the final round and brought the Eagles' long winning habit to an end. The Eagles had lost their first game of the season, back in May, and played all the way through the summer to September before dropping their next contest—which is a record of which the Eagles can be truly proud.

The Eagles and General Electric contingent will clash again at Stroudsburg Playground on Sunday, September 21. Jim McCarthy, former local athlete was the big gun for the General Electric contingent in yesterday's game, driving in five of the nine runs scored by the winning contingent. They're still talking about Friday night's celebration honoring Bobby Jones, probably the greatest amateur golfer in history, down around Shawnee. It certainly must have been a top flight affair.

Starting sometime this week, The Daily Record sports section will feature a short history of all the coaches according to season. The football mentors will come first, along with soccer and field hockey at the college, and then basketball, wrestling and swimming, not to mention baseball and tennis. Down the line there will be a repetition of coaches, but not of stories. One feature will suffice for the individual mentor. There should be plenty of interesting facts in the lives of the various local coaches.

Jerry Stulgaitis, head coach of football at Stroudsburg High, will be first on the list of feature stories, because the Mountaineers are the first football team to go into action this season. Ted Wland, former Slatington High and Copley American Legion pitching star, dropped a close 3-2 decision to Wilmington on Friday, while pitching the Inter-State League contest for Allentown.

Steve Schuster, who pitched for Emmaus last season, has been signed by the Philadelphia A's for delivery to one of the club's class "D" farms next year. Bill Berger was touching up his golf game yesterday by practicing some chip shots in his front yard. Mark Bloss almost went to see his favorite Yankees play on Saturday—but didn't.

Daleville Dumps Tobyhanna To Capture Association Crown, 4-0

Daleville—Daleville won the Pocono Mountain Association pennant yesterday with a 4-0 victory over Tobyhanna in a special playoff game held on the winning team's home field. Daleville, Tobyhanna and Newfoundland tied for the top spot, but the special playoffs resulted in that order in the final standings.

Al Schock held Daleville scoreless through the first three innings, but the host contingent broke the run famine with one marker in the bottom of the fourth, giving the Daleville contingent a lead it never relinquished.

Three More
However, Daleville wasn't content with a one-run bulge, but came back with three tallies in the home half of the seventh.

Meanwhile Tobyhanna was helpless against Bob Haines, as the Daleville hurler distributed four hits over the nine-inning route.

Tobyhanna plays Gouldsboro and Daleville tackles Newfoundland in next Sunday's opening post-season playoff schedule.

Lake Harmony Wins Over West End

Barbiche Wins Century Run At Local Track

Paul Barbiche, the fence busting lawyer from Flemington, N. J., was declared the winner of yesterday's grueling 100 mile new car race at Stroudsburg Speedway, but only after four hours of checking, double checking and triple checking by the judges, who first had ruled that likeable Eddie Riker, Bontion, N. J., had piloted his 1946 Ford to victory, as only nine cars in the starting field of 24 made it to the finish line.

Barbiche, driving a red painted 1948 Ford, outdistanced Riker by only a matter of yards, although the more than 2500 people watching incident that befell Johnny Caney, the veteran Barbiche was one lap back of Riker.

The uncertainty of the finish was caused by the heart breaking accident that befell Johnny Caney, of Paterson, N. J., who had more than completely lapped the field and had victory within his grasp, when the rear axle broke on the black 1948 Ford he was driving and forced the speeding number 27 machine out of the race on the 183rd lap, 17 laps from the finish line.

Good Driving
Barbiche drove a well planned and careful race, as he covered the 200 laps without having to enter the pits once. The Flemington flyer kept a steady pace and remained out of trouble, as he guided the car owned by Tommy Garbar, who also owns Stroudsburg Speedway, to victory by the narrowest of margins, the four-hour check revealed.

Riker, from Rockaway, N. J., placed second, while John Nordmeyer, Paterson, N. J., came in third and Henry "Hank" Boltz, known to many racing fans in this area, placed fourth. Nordmeyer drove a 1939 Ford and Boltz a 1950 Oldsmobile.

Flat tires, broken front ends, over-heated radiators, broken gas lines and broken axles were common place during the afternoon of speed and thrills, as no fewer than 15 of the starters were forced to the infield and out of the race. There were no real accidents, but several cars went into slight spins and on several occasions speed-bent drivers bumped the opposition on turns.

Barbiche's victory was all the more remarkable due to the fact that he only recently returned to the track, after suffering a broken collar-bone and other injuries in an end-over-end, and side-over-side flip at Pittman, N. J.

The car that Barbiche drove to victory yesterday is the one that "Pepper" Cunningham set the Langhorne record with in 1948.

Stroudsburg Speedway will feature stock car racing next week.

Weather Forces Walcott Indoors

Atlantic City (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott entertained his six children yesterday and showed the youngsters what he has in store for "Rocky" Marciano September 23 as he pummeled three sparring mates in a four-round workout.

Inclement weather forced the heavyweight champion to move indoors to Laona Byrd's gymnasium at nearby Pleasantville as he stepped up the pace in preparation for his title defense against Marciano at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium.

Selection
Low Tender, former great lightweight fighter, watched Walcott work and marveled at his excellent condition. He said "Walcott looks like he has been born all over." Tender picked Walcott to knock out Marciano in this "seventh or eighth round."

Marciano Takes Lengthy Workout

Grossinger, N. Y. (AP) — Rocky Marciano went through the longest workout of his boxing career in preparation for his September 23 heavyweight title bout against champion Joe Walcott in Philadelphia.

Reason
"Rocky never has gone fifteen rounds," explained Manager Al Weill. "That's why we are working so hard. He must be ready for any eventuality."

Baseball Meeting Listed

Roseto — The Blue Mountain League will hold its September meeting here at the Martucci-Caplanovich American Legion Post today. The gathering is listed for 7:30 p. m. All teams are urged to have a representative on hand.

Three Years
Three years ago Grace got an ace on this same hole. Some years ago he scored his first hole-in-one at the National Golf Club on Long Island.

Everitt-Babbish Use Steady Golf To Capture Top Prize In Waite Memorial Tourney

Shawnee-on-Delaware—Bob Babbish, Detroit, and likeable Howard Everett, Northfield, N. J., displayed real team work in winning the seventh annual Waite Memorial championship on Saturday with a four-and-three decision over Billy Haverstick, Lancaster, and Jack Best, Fresh Meadows, N. Y. The winning two-man's ability to win or at least the alternating holes completely broke the back of the Haverstick-Best championship hopes.

Best was wild, both off the tees and on his second shots, while Haverstick played almost brilliant golf at times, only to have beautiful putts or brilliant approaches rim the cup and bounce out.

However, on the other hand, the Babbish-Everett team played almost mechanical golf. When one of the team had a bad hole, his partner was always Johnny-on-the-spot with a score that tied or won the hole.

Everett and Babbish were three-up at the end of the first nine and went four down when Babbish came up with a birdie four on the 10th. Haverstick rimmed the cup with a 15-foot putt that would have also resulted in a bird if it had dropped.

End Notes
Haverstick bounced out of the cup on a 35-foot putt on the 11th hole, but managed to halve the hole. However, Babbish came back with another bird on the punch-bowl 12th hole to put the ultimate winners five up, with six holes remaining.

The 13th was halved and Haverstick birdied the 14th to put his contingent four down with four links rivals all parred the 15th hole to end the match.

John Roberts, Columbus, O., and Steve Barriett, Rutherford, N. J., defeated Francis Elliott, Bronxville, N. Y., and Chris Brinke, Detroit, two-and-one, to win the National Old Masters tournament, which was played in conjunction with the Waite.

The first flight title in the Waite went to Tom Sheehan, Detroit, and Bill O'Hara, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., who took the measure of Frank "Pooch" Allan, West Pittston, Del., and Jack Matthews, Wilmington, Del., four-and-three.

Floyd Cramer, Carbondale, and Olin Cerrochi, Bayside, L. I., won the Manawalkin Tournament, the non-championship portion of the Waite, with a one-up victory over Bill Harmony, Stroudsburg, N. Y.

The first flight title in the Manawalkin went to Dr. William Hill, Belmont, Mass., and Grant Nilvaunt, Stroudsburg attorney, who scored a one-up victory over Ray "Pike" Fredericks, Stroudsburg, and Lou Del Guercio, Rye, N. Y.

Harold Storm, another Stroudsburg golfer, teamed with Fred Brand, Oakmont, Pa., to down Lionel MacDuff, Lynn, Mass., and Duncan McDermott, Bermuda, five-and-four in the clutch flight. Storm shot a 73 on the final day of the tournament.

Racing Postponed
Gilbert—The reopening of the West End Speedway was postponed until next Sunday it was announced last night, because a suitable field was not available yesterday. Next week's action begins at 2 p. m.

Gains Tie With Tannersville For Fourth Slot

Gilbert — Lake Harmony moved into a fourth place tie with Tannersville in the final standings of the Pocono Mountains League yesterday, with a convincing 4-0 victory over West End A. C., here on the losing contingent's home field. Four runs in the last four innings settled the outcome of the game in favor of the invading nine.

Clinton Getz, president of the Pocono Mountains League, announced last night that Tannersville and Lake Harmony would tangle on the West End field next Sunday, at 2 p. m., in an effort to settle the final spot for the post-season playoffs. The winner of next week's contest will take part in the playoffs, while the loser will store the equipment away until next season.

Good Pitching
Jim Correll, manager of the West End contingent, pitched on even terms with Lake Harmony's Jerry Snyder through the first five innings, when neither team was able to break into the scoring column.

However, Lake Harmony found the range for a singleton in the sixth, added one more in the eighth and pushed two insurance markers across the plate in the visiting half of the ninth frame.

Three West End errors figured in the Lake Harmony scoring, as did seven hits by the visiting nine.

West End accounted for five safeties in a losing cause. Snyder, in addition to pitching his mates to victory, hanged out two hits to lead the Lake Harmony attack, as did Correll for the losing club.

San Francisco Triumphs

Seranton Club Breaks Eagles' Victory Streak

Three runs in the seventh and final inning enabled the General Electric softball team of Seranton to score a 9-7 victory over the Eagles at Stroudsburg Playground yesterday and break the streak of 31 straight victories compiled by the Eagles, who hadn't tasted defeat since the opening game of the present campaign.

McCarthy, manager of the General Electric club, a former well known local athlete, was the big gun in a winning cause, driving home five of the nine winning markers.

McCarthy's big blow was a triple in the third inning with the bases loaded.

Home Run

Jerry Lynn homered in the top of the sixth, when he drove a ball into the deepest portion of left-center field.

The Eagles led 2-1 going into the third round, but McCarthy's big blow sparked the winning club to four markers. The Eagles picked up one in the fifth, but it was matched by the Seranton contingent in the sixth, only to have the Stroudsburg contingent come back to even the count at 6-all with three tallies in the home half of the sixth.

However, the Seranton club wasn't to be denied and it scored three times in the seventh, while the Eagles could pick up only one marker in the same frame, to capture its 12th straight defeat.

The same two rivals clash again at Stroudsburg Playground on Sunday, September 28.

Mize Completes Cycle Of Parks As Yankees Down Senators, 5-1

Washington (AP) — The first Griffith Stadium home run of Johnny Mize's lengthy career was delivered with the bases loaded off Walter Masterson in the sixth inning and that pinch grand slammer lifted the New York Yankees to a 5-1 victory over Washington.

Masterson, who pitched a one-hitter for five innings, held a 1-0 edge over Ed Lopat as the result of first inning singles by Eddie Yost, Jim Bushy and Jackie Jensen before Mize applied the crusher.

Masterson invited trouble by walking Billy Martin and Phil Rizzuto. Lopat beat out a hunt to fill the bases and Mize batted for Gil McDougald and returned his third home run of the season over the right field fence.

The Yankees added another run in the inning when Mickey Mantle singled, went to third on Yogi Berra's single and scored on Gene Woodling's grounder to Mel Hoderlein at second base.

Lopat held the Senators to eight hits in posting his eighth win, while the Yankees obtained six hits off Masterson and Julio Moreno.

Mize's homer enabled him to complete the cycle of hitting a home run in every major league ball park including Philadelphia's Baker Bowl, former home of the Phillies.

Slaughter Leads Cards To Nod Over Bucs

St. Louis (AP) — Old reliable Enos Slaughter, playing like a rookie of the year candidate, personally blasted away a 3-0 Pittsburgh advantage yesterday to life the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-3 victory over the last-place Pirates.

The 36-year-old Card veteran, who doubled home the tying run and slammed a game-winning home run in Saturday night's 10-inning, 7-4 victory over the Bucs, again took charge yesterday after Howard Pollet, a one-time Cardinal, had held St. Louis scoreless on two hits for seven innings.

With one out and the bases jammed in the eighth, Slaughter powered Pollet's 3-2 pitch against the right field screen for a triple that made it a new game at 3-3.

Slaughter's game-ending hit came in the ninth as he punched a fly ball into center field with the bases again loaded and it fell for a single as rookie fielder Dick Hall lost the ball in the sun. Jim Vaughn, who had walked the bases full to open the ninth while retiring but one batter, was the loser.

Indians Clip Brownies Twice

Cleveland (AP) — The pennant chasing Cleveland Indians, outlived in both games, swept a doubleheader from the St. Louis Browns yesterday, 4-0 and 3-1, and moved up to only two games behind the first place New York Yankees.

The Indians' double victory ran their winning streak to five games in the heated American League race.

Mike Garcia hurled his 19th triumph and fifth shutout in the opener, a six-hitter in which he shade Gene Bearden, who allowed four blows, including two in the first inning when the Indians bagged three runs.

A strong wind blowing toward the plate made it virtually a physical impossibility to hit the ball out of the park, and the Indians' home run weapon was rendered useless. But they got enough wind-blown hits to win.

Nevel Tosses No-Hit Contest

Kansas City (AP) — Ernie Nevel, 33-year-old Kansas City right-hander, picked the final game of the season to pitch the American Association's first no-hit, no-run game of the 1952 campaign, throttling the Minneapolis Millers, 3 to 0, yesterday.

Nevel turned in the feat in the 7-inning second game of a twin bill after the Blues had won the opener, 2 to 1. He struck out three and didn't give up a walk. He would have had a perfect game save for two errors by his teammates.

McCoy Paces Field

Williams Grove (AP) — Ernie McCoy of Reading, yesterday won the 15 mile big car feature race at the Williams Grove speedway with a new record time for the distance.

Polk Gives Enrollment For New Term

Kresgeville—Enrollment figures for the 1952-53 school year have been released by Polk Township school.

Supervising Principal Harry T. Young announced yesterday that a total of 319 pupils will attend the school this year.

There are more boys in this number than girls. The enrollment is divided 168 boys to 151 girls.

Mrs. Grace Snyder has 56 pupils in her first grade class—16 boys and 40 girls. There are 34 pupils—18 boys, 16 girls—in the second grade where Mrs. Esther Kresge is the teacher.

Elda Dunning's third graders are divided almost equally—15 boys to 16 girls for a total of 31 pupils while the fourth graders number 23 boys and 12 girls for a total of 35 pupils under the supervision of Mrs. Annie Smith.

Both fifth and sixth graders are taught by Mrs. Dorothea Smale. Mrs. Smale has 19 boys and 10 girls in the fifth grade and 10 to 10 ratio between boys and girls in the sixth grade.

Total enrollment for the grade school is now set at 101 boys, 84 girls or a total of 185 pupils.

In the high school each grade has a regular homeroom teacher.

There are 15 students in the seventh grade—11 boys, 4 girls—under supervision of Clifford Stroud. Marjane Everett's eighth graders number 26—14 boys and 12 girls and there are 37 students (16 boys, 21 girls) in the ninth grade under Mrs. Helen Diehl.

Edwards Gives Inside Story On Stevenson's Nomination

Here's the "inside story" on Adlai Stevenson's reluctance to run for the nomination of presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket, as related before the Rotary Club of the Stroudsburgs by convention delegate Harold C. Edwards.

In January or February, Edwards said, Stevenson attended a dinner in New York.

Also at the dinner were Averell Harriman and several influential Democrats who were interested in selecting a candidate for the Fall election.

At that time, Harriman told Adlai: "You ought to run. You carried that State of Illinois by the greatest majority in history."

The head of the Mutual Security Agency also pointed out that a great deal of Stevenson's support had come from Republican voters. Stevenson then expressed his regret, saying that he had already made a promise to the Democratic Committee in Illinois and to the Independent Republican voters who had supported him in the 1948 election, telling them that he "needed four more years in Springfield."

This, the governor felt, was in the form of a promise to Illinois voters—a promise which he did not want to break.

When convention time came, however, it became apparent that Stevenson had underestimated his support. He still felt that he couldn't "back up" on his former statements.

On Wednesday morning, Edwards related, Harriman visited the home where the governor was staying.

The New Yorker—whose expected support had failed to materialize at the convention—then told Stevenson "You have no moral obligation to me. I want to release the former; eight boys and 6 girls in the latter grade.

Total high school enrollment is split evenly between male and female students—67 to 67.

Scholarship Is Awarded To Morken

Portland — A Stroudsburg High School graduate will enter the Philadelphia Museum of Art training school on Sept. 22 as a winner of a four-year scholarship awarded by Sen. Joseph Yasko.

The student, Michael Morken, attended Stroudsburg High School and was graduated from that school as a member of the 1952 class.

He was active in music groups at Stroudsburg as well as regular classes in art.

At the museum school Morken will major in furniture design and interior decoration.

from your statement."

One of the primary reasons for Stevenson's reluctance to give the draft a "go-ahead" sign had been his friendship with Harriman. The governor apparently, also, felt responsible for encouraging the wealthy railroad owner to enter the contest.

Following the Wednesday morning interview, however, word went back to the convention hall that Stevenson would accept.

From that time on, the "Draft Stevenson" move began gathering steam. It was the support from behind the scenes by Harriman himself which threw the movement into high gear even before the New Yorker had released his pledged delegates.

National Kid's Day Is Planned

National Kids' Day will be celebrated Saturday, September 27 in Monroe County and thousands of communities throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

Gilbert Smrz, president of the local Kiwanis Club, said the annual observance is sponsored by Kiwanis International and the National Kids' Day Foundation, Inc., North Hollywood, California. All Kiwanis clubs annually observe the day in cooperation with Kiwanis International.

"Plans for the fourth annual celebration of National Kids' Day here are almost complete," President Smrz added. "In keeping with one of the purposes of the day, which is to show in a positive way that the youth of today are capable of great personal accomplishments, our program is designed to give our youth the opportunity to demonstrate the need for adults to exercise their right to vote in his election year."

Further details on this plan, which will give every boy or girl in the county a chance to participate, will be announced later in The Daily Record.

Kiwanis International has been active in youth work for twenty-seven years and Kids' Day is now one of the principal activities of the organization, Mr. Smrz said.

Mr. Smrz cautioned against a possible tendency to overlook youth problems because of the tense political campaigns and world conditions. "We must do better this year than ever before. Kiwanians and other civic minded residents of Monroe County will have an opportunity through our plans to join with millions of fellow North Americans in observing a day set aside especially for helping youth."

It couldn't be done ...but Ford did it!

White sidewall tires, two-tone color combination illustrated optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.

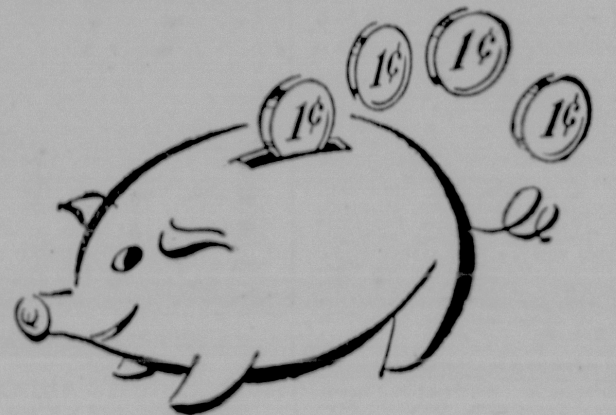

For years car makers thought you couldn't equal the finest cars in quality unless you equalled them in price. This year Ford proves you can have a car that compares with the best ... at a price that compares with the lowest. No wonder Ford is America's most wanted car. No wonder so many folks are insisting on Ford even in cases where it means waiting.
